We Celebrate Courage, Not Fear and Division

MADISON — At least 13 students from UW have had their visas revoked by the Trump MAGA regime. State Senator Kelda Roys (D-Madison) represents UW and issued the following statement:

“In Madison, we celebrate the courage it takes to come study in the United States to build a better life and advance human knowledge. Our community is a welcoming, innovative, and thriving place, because we attract the world’s best and brightest, who help tackle some of our most challenging problems.

“All of us must stand up to the Republican Administration’s lawless, unconstitutional, and un-American actions to abduct, arrest, and kick out, and intimidate international students, legal permanent residents, and others, without due process of law. This is unacceptable and we must unite in opposing it.”
