MADISON, Wis. – The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) announced 11 Wisconsin companies received nearly a quarter of a million dollars total in 2024 Buy Local, Buy Wisconsin (BLBW) Grants to help grow the local food economy.

BLBW is a competitive grant program designed to strengthen Wisconsin's agriculture and food industries by helping farms and businesses more efficiently process, market, and distribute locally grown food products. BLBW grants provide consumers with access to more Wisconsin-grown food products, including organic vegetables, hops varieties, hazelnut products, locally grown grain, and other value-added products.

"Buy Local, Buy Wisconsin grants help diverse sectors of Wisconsin food producers sell their products to local distributors, which in turn helps Wisconsin communities get access to more local foods," said DATCP Secretary Randy Romanski. "We are pleased to help support the innovative projects funded in this round."

DATCP received 24 applications requesting more than $761,000 total. The grant recipients and their planned projects, totaling $248,840, are:

- B&E's Trees, LLC, dba Embark – Increase Wisconsin Local Food Sales by Exploring Wisconsin with Wisconsin Maple Energy

- Philadelphia Community Farm, Inc. – Direct to End-User Expansion and Demonstration of Mid-Scale Production for Emerging Farmers

Since the inception of BLBW in 2008, more than 600 applications have been submitted for the grants, requesting a total of more than $21 million in funding. Of those applications, 128 projects have been funded, totaling more than $3.227 million. Previous grant recipients have generated more than $14.7 million in new local food sales, created and retained 544 jobs, and benefited more than 5,600 producers and 5,500 markets.
