FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LPWI Convention Features

The Libertarian Party of Wisconsin (LPWI) will be celebrating all things Libertarian this coming weekend, April 25-27 at Treehaven UW-Stevens Point. All interested persons can tune in to the livestream of the convention at 9am Saturday morning, April 26th, on the LPWI website, lpwi.org.

This year, the LPWI is proud to host Jenn Gray for a workshop as a featured speaker on Saturday, April 26th. In addition to her work on Libertarian causes and campaigns, Jenn was the host of the "Leading Liberty" podcast where she discussed marketing and communications for liberty-minded professionals.

In addition to their featured speaker, the LPWI will present to the membership and the public for the first time their new and innovative fundraising project.

Known as the Alliance, the LPWI has partnered with a credit card processing company which will allow individual and volunteering business owners to donate part of a normal credit processing fee --at no extra cost to anyone-- to the LPWI and its affiliates. A consensual and legal process, the Alliance project promises to lead the way to a new and more effective process of doing business in a community.

For more details, join the convention livestream, as Scott Kucnicki of the Alliance explains this new and innovative disruptor for effective alternative politics in Wisconsin.
